Purpose of this Booklet

The purpose of this information booklet is to assist individuals who have or are considering to apply for the Northern Territory Bonded Medical Scheme (NTBMS). The information provided in this booklet is general in nature and is to be used in conjunction with the Flinders University Doctor of Medicine (MD) Domestic Application Guide and NTBMS Deed of Agreement.

Should you require any further clarification or assistance, please contact the staff of the Territory via email on METC.DoH@nt.gov.au or call on 08 8999 2832.

Disclaimer

This information is published as a guide only. It does not overrule or diminish what is stated in individual Northern Territory Bonded Medical Scheme Return of Service Obligation Agreements with the Northern Territory of Australia and participants should seek their own legal advice before entering into any Agreement.

1. The Northern Territory Bonded Medical Scheme (NTBMS)

The NTBMS is an NT and Australian Government initiative with the aims of providing a sustainable and highly qualified medical workforce, appropriately skilled in delivering services to rural and remote communities and meet the health needs of all Territorians. It also aims at increasing the number of Aboriginal doctors in the NT and Australia as well as supporting the Territory's intention to integrate the entire medical education and training pipeline.

It is a scheme that funds the medical training (Doctor of Medicine) for each medical student enrolled in the NTBMS who as a result of having their course costs funded by the NT Government (NTG) are obliged to return a return of service (RoSO) to the NTG.

The Doctor of Medicine (MD) degree can be studied entirely in the NT through the Northern Territory Medical Program (NTMP). Participation in the NTMP is available to Australian citizens and permanent residents and particularly for those who identify as NT residents.

Medical students in the past since 1996 have been able to complete their final two clinical years of their medical course (four or six year medical courses) in the NT through a NTG funded Clinical School medical course model. The NTMP was established in 2010 and commenced delivery with the first intake of medical students in 2011 in unison with the Commonwealth the NTG partnered together to establish the medical course and to cover course costs to support NT residents (including Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islanders) to study medicine entirely in the NT.

Students in the NT medical course have many opportunities to gain a strong foundation in rural and remote medicine providing experiences in NT locations with placements in Alice Springs, Tennant Creek, Katherine, Nhulunbuy and rural Darwin.

The NTG has committed to providing funding towards 24 places in the NT Medical Program delivered by the education provider (Flinders University). In return graduates agree on completion of the course to work as a medical practitioner in a designated area of the NT for the specified return of service obligation period as stipulated in the NTBMS DoA.

Students joining the NTBMS will enter into a DoA with the Territory which is a legally binding agreement/contract. It is strongly advised that legal advice is sought prior to signing the NTBMS DoA so that all legal obligations and responsibilities are understood prior to entering into this agreement.

1.1 Eligibility

Preference for the NTMP is given to NT and Aboriginal applicants, however any Australian resident may apply. The NTMP admissions process uses the NTG Priority Categories to determine eligibility to enrol into this NT bonded based program.

A NT resident means a person who:

- a) Has a family or personal connection to the NT which strongly suggests that a person is likely to remain a resident of the NT; and
- b) Has resided at a permanent address in the NT for either at least three years out of the past six years; or a total of at least five years since commencing primary school.

1.2 Entry Pathways

There are two main pathways into the NTMP, either through graduate entry or undergraduate. Undergraduate entry for NT school leavers is in conjunction with Charles Darwin University (CDU) through commencing the first two years of the three year Bachelor of Clinical Science with CDU. Preference for places in both pathways is given to identified NT residents or Aboriginal and Torres Strait Island students however other Australian residents may apply to Flinders University for consideration if all places are not taken up by the priority groups.

As a graduate entering through the graduate pathway you can apply to enter the NTMP after first sitting the Graduate Australian Medical School Admission Test \(GAMSAT\). On successful completion of the GAMSAT, NTMP applicants are shortlisted and are invited to be interviewed as the final step in the NTMP selection process. The GAMSAT test is offered in March and September of each year, check the education providers (Flinders University) website/s for when registrations to sit the test close for each admission test session.

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander graduate applicants can enroll and successfully complete the Flinders University Indigenous Entry Stream \(IES\) as an alternative to the GAMSAT. Check the Flinders University website for when you would need to enroll and other useful information related to this admission pathway.

The course is also offered as a six year undergraduate program. The undergraduate pathway provides graduates with a Double Degree where NT school leavers commence with the NT Charles Darwin University where they undertake the first two years of a Bachelor of Clinical Science (BCSc). The final year of the BCSc being completed as part of the NTMP with Flinders University NT. Successful completion of the NTMP would see graduates from this pathway achieving both the MD and BCSc. This pathway provides the opportunity for NT school leavers to study at home in the NT. Applicants for this pathway will need to achieve an Australian Tertiary Admission Rank (ATAR) of 90 or above and complete the University Clinical Assessment Test \(UCAT\), formerly Undergraduate Medicine and Health Sciences Admissions Test (UMAT). Registration for UCAT opens in March of each year and closes in early May with exams taking place in late July.

1.3 Priority Categories

- Priority 1: Northern Territory Aboriginal applicants who are NT residents.
Required to provide a Flinders statutory declaration confirming they meet NT residency requirements (as per the above) and confirmation they meet Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander status.
- Priority 2: Northern Territory Non Aboriginal applicants who are NT residents.
Required to provide a Flinders statutory declaration confirming they meet NT residency requirements (as per the above).
- Priority 3: Non-Northern Territory Aboriginal applicants.
Required to provide a Flinders statutory declaration and confirmation they meet Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander status.
- Priority 4: Non-Northern Territory and Non-Aboriginal Australian applicants.

1.4 Admissions and Application Process

The application and selection process for a NTBMS place is facilitated by Flinders University following the submission of an application to study medicine through the NTMP. NTBMS applicants must meet the same entrance requirements as any other student applying for a medical place with the addition of providing statutory declarations confirming their NT residency and/or Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander status.

While all Australian citizens and permanent residents are eligible to apply for a medical place, offers will only be made in the order of the priority categories stated above until the quota for the NTMP are filled.

Further information on the domestic application processes used by Flinders University are available in the Flinders University Doctor of Medicine \(MD\) Domestic Application Guide see page 13 for specific NTMP information.

1.5 NTBMS DoA

Following an offer to study medicine through the NTMP from Flinders University, you will receive a NTBMS DoA containing the terms and conditions of accepting this offer. The NTBMS DoA is a legal agreement between you and the Northern Territory of Australia Government. It is strongly advised that legal advice is sought prior to signing and accepting a place on the NTMP under the NTBMS. This is particularly important if you do not meet the NT Resident requirement and have been made an offer to study on the NTMP under the NTBMS.

Participating in the NTBMS is a legal commitment which may incur you financial liabilities if you are unable to fulfil the requirements of the DOA.

Before your medical place on the NTMP is finalised the Territory will need to have received a signed NTBMS DOA by the date specified in the letter accompanying the NTBMS DOA. If you do not sign and return the NTBMS DoA by the given date you may lose your NTBMS medical place on the NTMP.

1.6 Designated Area

It is a requirement of the NTBMS DoA that after completion of the MD, the Territory will provide employment in a designated area' within the NT . (see definition of a 'designated area' in your agreement).

A designated area refers to any location in the NT (e.g. a NT Health service or Primary Health Organisation) which is designated by the Territory to be an acceptable location for completing Your RoSO.

By agreeing to accept a place in the NTBMS, you are committing to work in a designated area in the NT. This may on graduation be at a location in either acute or primary care location. The designated areas available during a RoSO period will offer acute care and primary health opportunities within the NT and may be a workforce area of need.

Designated areas include but are not limited to the regional health services below:

- Top End Region (Royal Darwin and Palmerston Regional Hospitals);
- Big Rivers Region(Katherine Hospital);
- East Arnhem Region (Gove District Hospital);
- Central Australia Region (Alice Springs Hospital); and
- Barkley region (Tennant Creek Hospital)

The Territory ensures that NTBMS participants are equitably allocated between the regional health services in their PGY1 year whilst being considerate of the trainees career pathway choice and the needs of the NT regional health services. After the postgraduate year 1 (internship) has been completed the generally registered bonded graduate can apply to another designated area within any NT regional health service for a postgraduate year 2 (RMO) position or stay where they have completed their internship.

2. Participant Obligations

By agreeing to accept an NTBMS place and signing the NTBMS DoA, you are committing to complete the medical course and work full time in a Designated Area for the duration stipulated in your individual NTBMS DoA. Any deferrals or extended leave requests to meet your RoSO period e.g. part time work, extended leave, etc. must be agreed to by the Territory in advance of the requested period (see 'Your obligations' and 'Deferral of your Obligations' in the Deed of Agreement).

2.1 NTBMS DoA

If you accept an offer of a NTBMS place, you will be required to enter into a legal agreement with the Territory that specifies both the Territory's and your rights and obligations in relation to your bonded medical place.

In brief, the NTBMS DoA requires you to:

- Complete the Course within a timeframe suitable to the University (using the universities course policies and rules);
- Work for a specified timeframe as stipulated in your individual NTBMS DoA in a Designated Area following completion of your Course;
  - Any requests to amend how you meet your RoSO period e.g. part time work, extended leave, etc. must be requested in writing and agreed to by the Territory.
  - In general full time work is a minimum of 38 hours per week or as determined by the current Medical Officers Northern Territory Public Service Enterprise Agreement.
  - You must not work outside the Designated Area between the time you graduate from the Course and the time you complete the RoSO unless the Territory otherwise agrees. (see 'Employment in the Northern Territory' and 'Australian General Practice Training Program' in the Deed of Agreement)
- Commence the Intern year ideally within 2 months, but no more than 12 months, after graduating from the Course. In the event that you take longer than 12 months to complete your Intern year and achieve general registration as a Medical Practitioner, any additional time needed to complete the requirements of your general registration will not count towards your RoSO and will be deemed a deferral of the RoSO. (this extra period extending the completion date of your RoSO); and
- Meet the requirements of the Medical Board of Australia in relation to registration requirements to enable you to provide clinical/medical services in accordance with the NTBMS DoA.

2.2 Other Responsibilities

You are liable to pay for any costs, expenses, taxes or liabilities relating to your enrolment in the Course at the University and this Agreement, over and above the Course cost.

You must also notify the Territory in writing of the following within 30 days after they occur:

- your discontinuance of the Course;
- any change of your name, address and contact details;
- any suspension, ceasing of or imposition of conditions on your registration (Provisional and/or General) as a Medical Practitioner by the Medical Board of Australia.

To enable the contractual arrangements to be managed by all parties communication of any changes or amendments to a student's progress in the medical course and/or after graduation such as a student/graduates contact details changing and any periods of extended leave that may extend the RoSO period. These notifications are to be provided in writing to the Territory. These changes or amendments are to be provided within and no later than 30 days of the amendment or change occurring or prior to the requested deferral as per the NTBMS DoA.

In the case of a deferral request it is preferably to give a longer period of notification prior to the requested deferral commencement date in order for it to be processed and not delay the opportunity you wish to commence.

2.3 Deferring your Obligations

Your obligations can only be deferred where you have applied in writing to the Territory for approval, and that request has been approved in writing. Any approval may be subject to further conditions and the Territory may request information from you to substantiate your deferral application. The onus is on you to apply for a deferral and if not could be considered a breach of your agreement with the Territory.

You may request to defer:

- commencement of the RoSO (usually requiring extenuating circumstances to be approved);
- the RoSO at any time in respect of your parental leave entitlements as an NT public sector employee; or

- the RoSO at any time to undertake vocational training with a specialist college placement that cannot be met or completed in the NT.

A request to defer your obligations under the NTBMS DoA must be made in writing no later than 30 days prior to commencement of the period of deferral you are requesting. Any period of deferral will not count towards fulfilment of your RoSO.

If you wish to extend any period of deferral for medical speciality training you must apply for an extension in writing to the Territory at least 6 months before the deferral period expires.

(See 'Deferral of your Obligations' in the Deed of Agreement)

For more information on how to apply for a deferral and the relevant application form, please contact the PMAS staff for assistance and support in the deferral and withdrawal request processes.

3. Breach of NTBMS Deed of Agreement (DoA)

If you fail to fulfil your obligations in your NTBMS DoA with the Territory, you will be in breach of your NTBMS DoA. (see 'Breach of this Agreement' in the Deed of Agreement)

Without limiting the circumstances that may constitute that you may have breached the NTBMS DoA, you are deemed to have breached if you:

- Discontinue, withdraw or are suspended from the Course before the Census date of your second semester of study in the Course;
- do not complete the Course within a time period acceptable to the University or otherwise in accordance with the University's requirements;
- are precluded from the Course by the University (for example, on academic grounds);
- do not commence or complete the RoSO in the Designated Area/s for the specified period as required in accordance with this Agreement;
- work or apply to work outside the Designated Area without the Territory's approval;
- have your registration as a Medical Practitioner cancelled or restricted by any conditions imposed by the Australian Health Practitioner Regulation Authority or Medical Board of Australia;
- are terminated from your employment for any reason, including unsatisfactory performance; or
- do not comply with any other obligation under this Deed of Agreement.

If you breach your NTBMS DoA, you may be required to repay the Course Cost proportionate to the time of unfulfilled RoSO as debt due and payable by you to the Territory. (see 'Recovery of Course Costs' in the Deed of Agreement)

4. Appeals/Dispute Resolution

You may appeal against the outcome of your application to defer or be released from your obligations under the NTBMS DoA in writing, within 14 days from receipt of written notification of the outcome of your application. (see 'Dispute Resolution' in the Deed of Agreement)

For further information please contact the NT PMAS staff.
