

INTERN APPLICATION GUIDE

Internship in the Northern Territory

Internship

The intern year (PGY1) marks the transition from student to medical practitioner. It provides the opportunity to develop practical experience of applying the acquired theory to the safe treatment of patients as a responsible professional. The Medical Board of Australia (MBA) through the Australian Health Practitioner Regulation Agency (AHPRA) issues medical graduates with provisional registration to undertake this period of supervised practice.

As of January 1 2024, the newly revised MBA Registration Standards came into effect to align with the Australian Medical Council's \(AMC's\) National Framework for Prevocational Doctors \(PGY1 and PGY2\) Medical Training \(The AMC Framework\).

Successful completion of the internship leads to general registration. General registration indicates that the practitioner has the skills, knowledge and experience to work as a safe entry level medical practitioner able to practise within their limits of their training.

The MBA and NT Regional Health Services require all interns to undertake at least 47 weeks of satisfactory, supervised practical clinical experience. The 47 weeks of experience:

- a) Must be completed in a period of no longer than 3 years
- b) Excludes annual leave but may include up to two weeks of professional development leave
- c) Must include a minimum of four terms (of at least 10 weeks each term) in different specialities
- d) Must include direct clinical care in each term, which will have been predetermined through the accreditation process:
  - i. Undifferentiated illness patient care
  - ii. Chronic illness patient care
  - iii. Acute and critical illness patient care, and
  - iv. Peri-procedural patient care.

Interns are employed by a primary employing regional health service ensuring each trainee undertakes these essential requirements within their period of internship. NT PMAS encourages interns to gain exposure in a range of accredited terms in the hospital setting, general practice or community based health services.

Education and Assessment

At the start of each term, you should meet with your term supervisor to understand their expectations of you and your role and responsibilities in the team. You should identify any specific skills and knowledge that you would like to gain and be assessed on during the term. During this discussion you should confirm arrangements to attend formal education sessions, such as regional health service's weekly intern education program.

At the end of your PGY1 year you should be able to demonstrate the skills and knowledge outlined in the Prevocational outcome statements at the level appropriate for an intern. The term descriptions for each rotation include the prevocational outcome statements that have been mapped to the term.

The end-of-term and EPA assessments are also mapped to the outcome statements, checking on your progress regularly. If you have any concerns about your progress, you should discuss with your term supervisor about how you can address the relevant outcomes during the term.

Entrustable Professional Activities (EPAs)

The National Framework includes 4 EPAs that describe the most important components of your work as a prevocational doctor. Assessments of these EPAs document your level of entrustability, which is your assessor's judgement of how much supervision you need to safely perform the piece of work that has been observed.

EPA 1 Clinical assessment	Conduct a clinical assessment of a patient incorporating history, examination, formulation of a differential diagnosis and a management plan, including appropriate investigations and communication with the patient and their family or carers.
EPA 2 Recognition and care of the acutely unwell patient	Recognise, assess, escalate appropriately and provide immediate management to deteriorating and acutely unwell patients. (This EPA recognises that PGY1 and PGY2 doctors are often called after hours to assess patients whose situation has acutely changed.)
EPA 3 Prescribing	Appropriately prescribe therapies (drugs, fluids, blood products and inhalational therapies including oxygen) tailored to patients' needs and conditions.
EPA 4 Team communication – documentation, handover and referrals	Communicate about patient care, including accurate documentation and written and verbal information to facilitate high-quality care at transition points and referral.

For further information, see the Guide to Prevocational Training in Australia.

Each primary employing regional health service have Directors of Clinical Training (DCT) and a Medical Education Officer (MEO). Both have an important role in supporting and enhancing the prevocational education program which includes the intern education and training program. The DCT and MEO offer assistance and advice on the processes of teaching, assessment and evaluation. They are staff that will provide support for the personal welfare of interns and resident medical officers (RMOs), and provide advocacy when required.

Completion of internship (PGY1)

Upon satisfactory completion of PGY1, you will apply to the MBA for general registration. Your regional health service will inform the Board if you have met the conditions for general registration, which is to complete the requirements of the intern year (47 weeks of supervised practice in at least 4 accredited terms in different specialities with the required types of clinical exposure) and demonstrate the skills and knowledge outlined in the Prevocational outcome statements.

Eligibility for Internship

To be eligible to apply for an internship in the NT, applicants must:

- Be a graduate of an accredited Australian medical school in Australia or New Zealand
- Meet the Medical Board of Australia's English Language Skills registration standard
- Have never been registered or practiced as a medical practitioner or previously commenced an internship in Australia or overseas
- Be an Australian or New Zealand citizen, Australian permanent resident or valid temporary Australian resident, or be a holder of an unrestricted work visa that enables them to work in Australia for the duration of their prevocational training

Australian and New Zealand applicants who have completed their medical degree from outside Australia (at an AMC accredited medical school) will be considered as an international medical graduate (IMG).

Internship placements are limited and priority is given to graduates of the NT Medical Program (NTMP), graduates who are Australian citizens or permanent residents, or New Zealand citizens.

What is a medical intern placement number (MIPN)?

The Intern Placement Number is a unique nine digit number which has been generated by the Australian Health Practitioner Regulation Agency (AHPRA) and has been provided to medical schools for distribution to all final year medical students. If you do not have an Intern Placement Number issued or you have misplaced it you must contact your medical school to have the number issued or reissued. Do not contact AHPRA.

Note: The Intern Placement Number is not your University Student Identification Number.

An IPN is compulsory for all applications for Internships in all states and territories. Applicants must have their IPN ready prior to commencing their application.

Mandatory Application Information

As part of the national alignment of intern application systems, jurisdictions have agreed on a minimum data set which will be compulsory for all applications. This data includes the following:

• First and Last name	• Name of Medical School/University that has/will award degree (including Campus)
• Citizenship/Residency status	• Medical School/University graduation year
• Medical Intern Placement Number (IPN)	• Medical School/University student identification number
• Email address	• Current/most recent visa for non-Australian citizens
• Contact Phone number	• Academic Transcript or University supplied graduate list
• Home/Postal address	• Curriculum Vitae or Resume declared true and correct &amp; signed and dated
• Passport – if not available, Birth or Citizenship Certificate	• Last Secondary schooling location
• Two referees who will be able to provide a workplace assessment in a timely manner to support your application if required. Referees must be registered medical practitioners on AHPRA's specialist register and contactable in the next 3 – 4 months.	• English Language Skills Test Certificate/s or other accepted evidence (see English language skills registration standard) – for applicants who have not completed secondary schooling within one of the MBA 'recognised countries'

Frequently Asked Questions

Can I defer my Internship Offer?

As the offer is for a contract of employment, intern positions cannot be deferred. If you wish to commence internship two years or more after graduating from medical school, it is advisable to seek advice from the Medical Board of Australia. The general registration standard from the Medical Board of Australia requires internships to be completed in no more than three years.

Can I apply for a mid-year Internship?

All internships offered in the NT are for 12 months. Internships commence and finish in January of each year.

Do I have to submit an official Academic Transcript?

An unofficial copy of your Academic Transcript (up until the date of application) is acceptable.

Who can I nominate as my referees?

You will be required to nominate 2 referees who will be able to provide a workplace assessment in a timely manner to support your application if required. Referees must be registered medical practitioners on AHPRA's specialist register and contactable in the next three – four months.

Please note that referees are not always contacted by the health services prior to making offers.

Do I have to sign my Curriculum Vitae/Resume?

You must declare on your CV that the 'The Curriculum Vitae is true and correct as at (insert date)'. This declaration must be signed and dated.

Do I have to have my supporting documents certified?

Statutory Declarations need to be witnessed by any person who is at least 18 (eighteen) years of age.

All other supporting documents are not required to be certified.

What will I be paid?

Medical Officers in the Northern Territory are covered by the Medical Officers Northern Territory Public Sector 2022 - 2025 Enterprise Agreement.

Who can I contact for assistance?

You can email any queries to InternsNT.DoH@nt.gov.au or phone the PMAS office on (08) 8999 2834. When calling NT PMAS for help please use the name used on your application (rather than a preferred/nickname) or the unique application ID number (see the 'Candidate Home' page) to ensure PMAS is able to identify the correct application efficiently.

Where can I get further information?

Please visit the PMAS website, www.ntmetc.com for further information regarding the application process. For information regarding Medical recruitment and Offers of employment in the Northern Territory go to:
