Help improve wellbeing and prevent suicide among Australian doctors and doctors-in-training

Researchers at UNSW and the Black Dog Institute invite you to take part in an anonymous, confidential online survey asking Australian doctors and doctors-in-training about your wellbeing, working life, and what your mental health service needs and priorities are.

The survey will take 20–30 minutes, and if you complete the survey, you can opt in to enter a prize draw to win a $200 e-gift card.

Your input will inform interventions and recommendations to improve the mental health and suicide prevention support provided to doctors in Australia.
